Office Action Summary

Serial No. 682,001
Art Unit 2882

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

Claims 1, 2, 5, 9, 22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Khutoryansky et al (5734694). Lines 50 of column 4 to 38 of column 6 explain operation of the disclosed tomographic system which includes presetting parameters such as sweep angle (travel distance), fulcrum (focal plane), slice thickness and speed. Switches 716 </> specify left or right scanning, and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to operate them in sequence since the source scanning in either direction is limited. Further, it would have been obvious to acquire more than one image while practicing the Khutoryansky method.

Claims 6, 7 and 10-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Khutoryansky et al (5734694) in view of Tam

(5717732) and Sata (5,412,702). Tam teaches a linear tomograph including x-ray source 10 and digital detector array 12. Khutoryansky does not detail the structure of his detector, and it would have been obvious to employ therefor any known detector such as the digital detector taught by Tam in order to provide real time display. Sata teaches an x-ray tomograph equipped with a display 40 for simultaneously showing multiple tomographic views, and it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to equip the Khutoryansky with such means to speed up medical diagnosis.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
